

Title of Article + Proper MLA Citation for Works Cited page	Author(s). "Title of Article." Title of Journal, Volume, Issue, Year, pages. Introduction to Primary Research: Observations, surveys, and interviews by Dana Lynn Driscoll
Summarize the article -- include your reaction, thoughts, anything to help you remember its claims. 100 to 150 words	The author explains to his students how to gather information for a research project. She explains the importance of finding primary sources in order to successfully complete your piece and how to find proper information in order to begin writing. She claims the proper way about how to succeed in a research paper and that it will help writers make a name for themselves and seem more credible.
Define new terms and concepts by quoting or paraphrasing the original author.	“How research is defined varies widely from field to field, and as you progress through your college career, your coursework will teach you much more about what it means to be a researcher within your field”.
How does this reading connect to other articles from class and/or your own research?	This connects to other articles because it is explaining the process and specifics of teaching an aspect like all other articles.
Based on the reading, craft one question to act as a springboard for class discussion.	How do students know they are finding and using the proper sources for research?