Summarize the article -- include your reaction, thoughts, anything to help you remember its claims. 100 to 150 words	The article explains the concept of a discourse community with the benefits and constraints of communicating within discourse communities. It also defines how genres relate with different communities and how different discourse communities have different expectations. It explains what qualifies as a discourse community and what does not qualify as one.
Define new terms and concepts by quoting or paraphrasing the original author.	“One of the most common ways discourse communities share information and meet their goals is through genres. To help explain the concept of genre, I’ll use music since I’ve been talking about playing guitar and music is probably an example you can relate to”
How does this reading connect to other articles from class and/or your own research?	I think this reading relates in many ways because people can use their personal experiences and daily interests to help them find their own goals and expectations which are from the genres itself.
Based on the reading, craft one question to act as a springboard for class discussion.	Why do discourse communities have different expectations?
